Dealership presents CPR training mannequin to Clio Area Fire Department

Clio, Mich. -- Having the right tools for cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) training can make the difference between life and death. Now this training will be a little easier in Clio due to a donation from the National Automobile Dealers Charitable Foundation (NADCF).

On April 11, Simms Chevrolet and the Michigan Automobile Dealers Association will present a Little Anne four-pack of CPR training mannequins to the Clio Area Fire Department.

The training mannequins give signals telling when the trainee is applying appropriate pressure in the right spot or breathing correctly into the unit's mouth. With the training, students learn the "feel" of giving quick, lifesaving emergency treatment.

CPR training has proven to increase the likelihood of survival from ventricular fibrillation. Many victims who would otherwise die are saved and return to normal activities. The training takes three to five hours for intensive practice and lectures. The donated mannequins will allow the Clio Area Fire Department to maintain its CPR proficiency and continuously monitor training. It is a necessary tool to keep all members of the department up-to-date with important CPR skills that are often relied upon in the community.

Simms Chevrolet sponsored the Fire Department's application to the foundation, whose charitable activities are supported by donations from National Automobile Dealers Association and Michigan Automobile Dealers Association members.
